Award Citation

Sergeant Frank Conrad made outstanding contributions to Marine Corps aviation while serving as a flight line mechanic and crewchief, Marine Heavy Helicopter Squadron 772(-), Marine Aircraft Group 49, from March 1, 2009 through December 31, 2009. During this period, Sgt Conrad consistently performed his duties in a commendable and highly professional manner. His commitment to mission accomplishment enabled the squadron to achieve outstanding levels of aircraft readiness during high tempo combat operations. Sgt Conrad's leadership, motivation and professional demeanor in the flightline division was instrumental in allowing HMH-772(-) to sustain the rigors of day and night combat operations. Sgt Conrad's dedication and tenacity made him an integral part of the squadron's success. His unrelenting superior performance of duties highlighted the personal culmination of over 406.1 combat flight hours, 271 sorties and six combat operations. By his noteworthy accomplishments, perseverance and devotion to duty, Sgt Conrad reflected great credit upon himself and upheld the highest traditions of Marine Corps aviation.
